DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 40-58 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-28 of U.S. Patent No. 6,667,082. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the patent contain the subject matter that is broader in scope than that of the instant claims, rendering them obvious over each other.

Claims 1-28 of the patent disclose all of the limitations recited in instant claims 40-58. However, claim 1 of the patent discloses (a) a first layer comprising an additive, a binder, and a crosslinking agent; and (b) a second layer; whereas instant claim 53 discloses a second binder in addition to the other components in the first layer. Thus, the scope of claim 1 of the patent encompasses that of instant claim 53, rendering them obvious over each other.

Claim 21 of the patent discloses (a) a first layer comprising an additive, a binder, a crosslinking agent; (b) a second layer; and (c) an overcoat layer (third layer). The first layer is between the overcoat layer and the second layer. Instant claim 40 discloses an additive in addition to other chemical components in the third layer. Thus, the scope of claim 21 of the patent overlaps that of instant claim 40, rendering them obvious over each other.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 40-58 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gribbin et al. (US Pat. 4,942,088) in view of Lundquist et al. (US Pat. 2,410,089).

Gribbin discloses a polyester film having an adhesion-promoting coating and a reprographic film coated on the surface of the adhesion-promoting layer. The adhesion-promoting layer comprises crosslinking-agent, such as maleic acid (dicarboxylic acid) and emulsifiers or protective colloids, and additives such as antioxidants. The reprographic film comprises resinous binder such as cellulose acetate and a crosslinking agent such as melamine formaldehyde (see abstract; col. 3, ln. 39-55; col. 5, ln. 15-26; col. 9, ln. 1-2, 41-57; Example 3).

Gribbin does not teach the specific protective colloids.

Lundquist teaches a coating composition comprising a protective colloid, such as gelatin or methyl cellulose to stabilize the dispersion (see col. 3, ln. 61-65). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to have employed gelatin or cellulose, as taught by Lundquist, in the coating composition of Gribbin, for the purpose of enhancing stabilization of the adhesive composition.
